

19th March 2020

As the world reacts to the impact of the Coronavirus, we here at A&B Group wanted to take this opportunity to advise that at present it's business as usual.

Our support team are still fully operational at present and all staff are currently either continuing to travel to our Head Office or site, as necessary. Some of our staff may be forced to work from home in the near future, however. Should this be the case, all members of staff will have the facility to continue to send and receive emails, process orders and wages and deal with any issues that may arise from site.

This, of course, also depends on our sites remaining open and we are in the hands of others to dictate this, or of course if the Government choose to force any kind of 'lockdown'.

Our staff, site operatives and supervisors have already been provided with full details of the virus, by way of two documents: 'Coronavirus Advice for Employers and Employees' and 'Getting Workplace Ready For Covid 19'. We have also ensured a Tool Box talk has been completed on each site.

Things are currently changing by the day and we will endeavour to react to whatever impact this has on our company and everyone affected.

We would ask for everyone's support at this time and if you have any questions or concerns to raise them directly to the company, the easiest way of doing this is by way of the following email address:

aandb@aandbgroup.net

Barry Taylor
Managing Director

